Because of flexible scheduling the high school library-media curriculum is totally integrated with other curriculum subject areas. High School librarians collaborate with all subject area teachers to implement the library-media curriculum.

Library Program Plan

The library media program plan is a tentative, chronological program plan to be submitted to the principal and supervisor. The plan may be submitted for the school year or for each nine-week period (See appendix).

Collection Development

Collection Analysis- Analyze your library's current collection to identify areas of strength and areas for improvement. Many book vendors offer collection analysis service. Contact your preferred SCS approved book vendor for more information about specific services offered.

Assess the Collection: What does the collection currently contain?

- Visual Inspection
- Vendor Analysis
- Atrium Reports
 - Holdings Summary by Item Report Class
 - Holdings Summary by Material Type
 - Copyright Sensitive Areas Report

TN State Requirements for Public School Libraries- Instructional materials should:

- Be relevant to today's world
- Support the identified needs of the school community
- Contribute to the objectives of the educational program
- Be appropriate and appealing to the level of the user
- Provide a stimulus for creativity
- Represent quality and accuracy in writing, illustrations, and informational worth
- Provide works by authors/illustrators/publishers/producers/etc. Of authority and high reputation
- Support Core Content Standards

Collection Standards: Item Count

The three (3) levels of collection standards for Tennessee school libraries are as follows: Basic, Standard, and Exemplary. The criteria by which school library collections are evaluated are listed below:

Basic Collection: Contains a minimum of twelve (12) items per student in Average Daily Membership (ADM).

Standard Collection – Contains fifteen (15) items per student in ADM

Exemplary Collection – Contains eighteen (18) items per student in ADM

Collection Standards: Collection Compilation

Pamphlets, textbooks, class sets, periodicals, out-of-date items, and items in poor physical condition shall neither be counted or reported in the total collection.

No more than five (5) copies of the same print title may be counted to meet standards for a minimum number of items per student.

Digital resources should be accessible through a school library webpage or Online Public Access Catalog (OPAC) and may comprise fifty (50%) of the collection.

The library shall provide access to the virtual library administered by the Tennessee State Library and Archives and the library personnel should receive training. These resources may count for up to twenty percent (20%) of the overall collection or, in schools in which the librarian received official training within the last five (5) years, they may count for up to thirty percent (30%) of the overall collection.

The collection shall include access to a current, complete encyclopedia in any format.

In secondary schools, the collection shall also include an unabridged dictionary, one (1) foreign language dictionary in the native language of ESL students in attendance at the school, a local newspaper, and one (1) daily newspaper presenting news on both state and national levels. For digital materials, only full text should be counted in the total.

The collection should include a balance of fiction and nonfiction with an appropriate level of text complexity. The resources in the collection should be chosen to do the following: complement and augment the most recently adopted curriculum standards, be a motivational springboard for student research, and encourage self-expression and curiosity by offering a variety of recreational reading material.

Collection Standards: Age

The Minimum Requirements for the Approval of Public Schools:

Rule 0520-01-03-07 states:

Collections meeting the compilation standards are evaluated based on age of the collection as measured in years from the current year:

- Basic Collection – sixteen (16) years and older;
- Standard Collection – fifteen (15) years;
- Exemplary collection – fourteen (14) years or less

For additional assistance with weeding and collection development, complete the Collection Development Plan worksheets (See Appendix) and Collection Development Plan: Building and Maintaining the Collection worksheets (See Appendix).

Library Instruction

Library instruction is a vital part of the services that librarians offer. One of the primary roles of the librarian is provide instruction that equips students to be information literate and resourceful. This section has been created to give librarians resources to use when teaching topics related to Internet safety, research, and test preparation. Additionally, this section contains information for using STEM/STEAM in the library.

Internet Safety

The websites in this section will be useful in teaching students to exercise proper digital citizenship by using technology responsibly.

Promotional Activities

As high school librarians we must support district educational programs by helping students develop skills in locating and using information, provide teachers access to materials needed for classroom instruction, and instill the love of reading in all our patrons. Library promotion is essential for making our patrons aware of what is available to them in the library and how we can help. The following websites provide numerous ideas for activities and celebrations that can be use throughout the school year to increase interest and promote library usage. Please be aware that a few links will not work on the SCS network. These sites are not located in the US and are blocked by district filters. Listed below are monthly promotions for the library. For more good ideas, see the “Celebration Weeks & Promotional Events,” section on the ALA website.
<http://www.ala.org/conferenceevents/celebrationweeks>.

Library Card Sign-up Month - September

- <http://www.ala.org/conferenceevents/celebrationweeks/card>
- September is Library Card Sign-Up Month - a time when the American Library Association and libraries across the country remind parents that the most important school supply of all is @ your library® - it's your library card.

International Literacy Day-September 8

- <https://www.literacyworldwide.org/meetings-events/international-literacy-day>
- A time to ask: What would your life be like if you couldn't read? This annual event, sponsored by the International Reading Association and United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) is an opportunity to focus on the 875 million adults worldwide who do not know how to read or write. Nearly two-thirds are women.

Banned Books Week - September 22-28, 2019; September 27 - October 3, 2020

- <http://www.ala.org/advocacy/bbooks>
- Observed during the last week of September each year, this annual event is an opportunity to educate about one of our most precious freedoms in a democracy and the role of libraries. A Banned Books Week Kit, list of “The 100 Most Challenged Books” and other materials are available from the ALA Office for Intellectual Freedom.

International School Library Day – Third Monday in October

- www.iasl-slo.org/schoollibraryday.html
- This day is sponsored by the International Association of School Librarianship to focus on the richness and variety of school library services in different countries, and the contribution that they make to their schools and communities.

National Book Month – October

- www.nationalbook.org/nbm.html
- This annual celebration of writers and readers is sponsored by the National Book Foundation. Finalists for the prestigious National Book Awards for U.S. authors, including Young People’s Literature, are announced in October. The awards presentation is in November. Take advantage of this opportunity to engage students in discussing the nominees and what makes a winning book in their eyes, as well as the judges’.

National Storytelling Festival – October

- www.storytellingcenter.com/festival/festival.htm
- The International Storytelling Center celebrates the power of storytelling each year in October by showcasing the world’s stories, storytellers and storytelling traditions at the National Storytelling Festival—the world’s premier storytelling event—in Jonesborough, TN. Why not hold your own festival and get students and teachers involved in this ancient and fun tradition?

Teen Read Week - (currently being re-envisioned by the YALSA board)

- www.ala.org/yalsa
- Observed the third week of October, this annual celebration is sponsored by ALA and its Young Adult Services Association to encourage teens to “read for the fun of it.” The ALA Graphics Catalog offers a wealth of promotional materials. Ideas for celebrating and sample publicity materials are provided online.

Hispanic Heritage Month – September 15 – October 15, 2019

- <https://edsitement.neh.gov/teachers-guides/hispanic-heritage-and-history-united-states>
- Since 1988, the U.S. Government has set aside the period from September 15 to October 15 as National Hispanic Heritage Month to honor the many contributions Hispanic Americans have made and continue to make to the United States of America. This Teacher's Guide brings together resources created during NEH Summer Seminars and Institutes, lesson plans for K-12 classrooms, and think pieces on events and experiences across Hispanic history and heritage.

National Friends of Libraries Week - October 20-26, 2019

- www.ala.org/united/friendsweek
- United for Libraries coordinates the celebration of Friends of the Library. Use the time to creatively promote your group in the community, to raise awareness, and to promote membership. This is also an excellent opportunity for your library to recognize the Friends for their help and support of the library.

Family Literacy Day, November 1

- www.famlit.org
- Sponsored by the National Center for Family Literacy, this annual event celebrates the important role of parents in their children’s learning. “Useful Tools,” including planning celebration tips, publicity materials and a calendar of parent-child activities, are provided on the website.

International Games Week (formerly International Games Day) - November 3-9, 2019

- <https://games.ala.org/international-games-week/>
- International Games Week is an initiative to reconnect communities through their libraries around the educational, recreational, and social value of all types of games. Libraries can host a gaming event during or near this week will be eligible for donations with registration on the website.

African American History Month-February

- <https://www.weareteachers.com/7-fresh-ideas-for-black-history-month/>
- Black history is American history. Celebrating African American History Month in the library gives us a chance to pay special attention to the cultural impact African Americans have made throughout that history. This website provides twenty activities you can incorporate into your library program in February.

Library Lovers Month- February

- www.librarysupport.net/librarylovers
- This is a time for library fans to express their feelings. There is a lively list of activities for libraries and their lovers, including visits from costumed book characters and fundraising ideas. Online postcards and downloadable art for bookmarks, banners and buttons also are provided on the website.

Is there room to weed?

Calculate the maximum of items that can be weeded by using the formulas below.

$$12 \times \text{student enrollment} = \underline{\text{Minimum items required for Basic Collection}}$$

$$\text{Total Holdings} - \text{Minimum items required for Basic Collection} = \underline{\text{Maximum number of weeded items allowed}}$$

Maximum number of items allowed: _____

NOTE: If your collection currently contains less than twelve (12) items per student, please contact Library Services before weeding.

Steps for Topic Selection for Research Papers

Library Standards:

2.1.6: Use the writing process, media and visual literacy, and technology skills to create products that express new understandings.

4.1.5: Connect ideas to own interests and previous knowledge and experience.

Step 1: Brainstorm to get research topic ideas.

Step 2: Read general background information.

- Read a general encyclopedia article on the top two or three topics you are considering. Reading a broad summary enables you to get an overview of the topic and see how your idea relates to broader, narrower and related issues. It also provides a great source for finding words commonly used to describe the topic. These keywords may be very useful to your later research. If you can't find an article on your topic, try using broader terms and ask for help from a librarian.

For example, the Britannica may not have an article on "Social and Political Implications of Jackie Robinson's Breaking of the Color Barrier in Major League Baseball" but there will be articles on "baseball history" and on "Jackie Robinson".

- Use article databases to scan current magazine, journal or newspaper articles on the topic.
- Use Web search engines to find Web sites on the topic.

Step 3: Focus in on your topic (Narrow Your Topic)

- Keep it manageable. A topic will be very difficult to research if it is too broad, or too narrow. One way to narrow a broad topic such as "the environment" is to limit your topic. Common ways to limit a topic are:
 - by geographic region
 - Example: What environmental issues are most important in the Southwestern United States?
 - by culture
 - Example: How does the environment fit into the Navajo world view?
 - by time frame
 - Example: What are the most prominent environmental issues of the last 10 years?
 - by discipline
 - Example: How does environmental awareness effect business practices today?
 - by population group

- Example: What are the effects of air pollution on senior citizens?

Step 4: Make a list of useful keywords

- Look for words that best describe your topic.
- These words will be found in the encyclopedia articles and other reading you do while selecting your topic.
- Find synonyms, broader and narrower terms for each keyword you find in order to expand your search capabilities
- Keep a list of these words to use as keywords later as you search in catalogs and other online databases

Step 5: Define your topic as a focused research question

- You will often begin with a word, develop a more focused interest in an aspect of something relating to that word, and then begin to have questions about the topic.

For example:

- Ideas = Frank Lloyd Wright or modern architecture
- Research Question = How has Frank Lloyd Wright influenced modern architecture?
- Focused Research Question = What design principles used by Frank Lloyd Wright are common in contemporary homes?

Step 6: Research and read more about your topic

- Use the key words you have gathered to research in the catalog, article databases and Internet search engines. Find more information to help answer your research question.
- You will need to do some research and reading before you select your final topic. Can you find enough information to answer your research question? Remember, selecting a topic is an important and complex part of the research process.

Step 8: Formulate a thesis statement

- Write your topic as a thesis statement.
- The development of a thesis assumes there is sufficient evidence to support the thesis statement.
 - For example, a thesis statement could be: Frank Lloyd Wright's design principles, including his use of ornamental detail and his sense of space and texture opened a new era of American architecture. His work has influenced contemporary residential design.

ONLINE SAFETY TIPS

Be Careful about what you post and say: Don't post inappropriate or private information and pictures online. Keep conversations appropriate.

Be mindful of what you email: Don't send private or inappropriate items to someone's email or inbox. These things can possibly cause trouble for you in the future.

Avoid meeting strangers in person: Meeting up with someone you met online can sometimes lead to a dan-gerous situation.

Use your intuition: If someone online approaches you inappropriately, or if you feel uneasy with someone, tell your parents.

Avoid Online Confrontations: Treat people the way you want to be treated, and if you feel that someone is harassing or bullying you, inform your parents.

Don't share your passwords with your friends: You don't want someone logging into your accounts and pretending to be you.
